

Dear parents: .... Love is in the air today as it's Valentine's Day and Friday. Hope you all have a lovely evening with a bit of romance too. Letter with this from Hackney about the coronavirus. I think the Chinese government are doing a remarkable job just now trying to contain this. Building two brand new hospitals in 10 days. Took 2 years to remove a roundabout at Highbury Corner and 3 months to lay some new mains in Tufnell Park and nowhere near completion. Lots of activities again this week see pictures below.

School news ... this week

Pics of the week ... Ms O'Grady leading yoga on wellbeing day, the first meeting of the new School Council with Ms Woodhouse, Reception out in the frosty air, Sensei Paul and his karate group and flying high in gymnastics with Mr James and his class

Jigsaw puzzles ... Appeal from Mr Hood our SEND co-ordinator for any jigsaw puzzles you don't use or need any more for a special piece of work he is doing with our pupils with SEND.

and finally ..... love the poet Robert Frost and shared this above with governors this week ...it goes on' sums up life beautifully..... I was in Chinatown last Sunday and it was really quiet. Met an old friend up from the West Country was telling me that on his coach up people were telling him not to go to Chinatown to meet me as everyone had coronavirus. My friend travels a lot and put them right. Lots of ill informed comment saround and footballers like that Tottenham player Dele Alli don't help. Most people make a full recovery it is tiny in the UK just now and panic is never wise. But do urge your children to wash their hands more as it is simply good hygiene practice. Safe travels if you're going away and have a wonderful half-term and a romantic Valentine's Day !!!!
