Dear parents: .... It's OLSJ Dalston Book Day 2021 and the sun is shining enough writing .....

Pics of the week:

Enjoy and more tomorrow ... including the Winners 2021 but on a day like this everyone is a winner and finally .... I dressed up as Socrates ...children thought I was someone out of Harry Potter because of the red suit ..... I must have got the poet and footballer mixed up ...one was a cool total genius Brazilian football captain 1982 also a top doctor, campaigner for human rights and devoted father to 6 kids lived life to the full and generally top man the other was a 4th century founder of moral philosophy and dialectics. First died of too much rum and caiprinhas and the second of too much hemlock, the curse of drink ahem. Both had a great turn of phrase however ....ah Brazil v Italy 1982 ..anyway enjoy Dalston Book Day as we are now nearly all back !!! Easter Care Club booking up fast so be quick closes tomorrow.
