- Education Act 2011
- Education (National Curriculum) (Attainment Targets and Programmes of Study) (England) Order 2013
- Education (National Curriculum) (Attainment Targets and Programmes of Study) (England) (Amendment) Order 2014

We believe reading is a vital but complex skill that will support children's learning across the whole curriculum. We want children to become enthusiastic, independent and reflective readers who are able to read with fluency, accuracy and understanding.

We will ensure children are given opportunities to read good quality and interesting fiction and non-fiction texts in a stimulating learning environment where reading materials are attractively presented by enthusiastic teachers who keep up to date with current children's literature.

We believe it is essential to establish a consistent whole school approach to the teaching of reading by promoting a strong and systematic emphasis on the teaching of synthetic phonics during shared, guided and independent reading sessions.

We believe it is crucial to involve and engage with parents in order for children to fulfil their potential in reading as we realise parents have an important role to play in their children's education.
